

Bio for Dr Claire L Park MBE MBChB FRCA FFICM DipIMC DipRTM

Dr Park is a Consultant in Pre-Hospital Emergency Medicine for London HEMS, and Anaesthesia and Critical Care Medicine at Kings College Hospital in London. She also is an army consultant with over 20 years of deployed military experience.

Claire is the Medical Adviser to the Specialist Firearms teams of the Metropolitan Police Service, and has worked closely with all of the emergency services in London on developing the joint response to high threat incidents, in particular following the attacks of 2017.

She is the Chief Investigator on a UK nationally funded research grant looking at evidence for improving patient outcomes in the hot zone of major incidents, and has been privileged to develop some excellent working relationships in this area with many members of the CTECC Committee over the last 4 to 5 years.
